WU-HSI COMPLETES HIGHWAY PLANS NEW BRIDGES,
KWANGTUNG TRUCK DRIVERS VOLUNTEER FOR KOREAN SERVICE

A macadamized highway, named Chieh-fang Lu (Liberation Road), has been constructed around the entire periphery of Wu-hsi, Kiangsu. Two groups of truck drivers, 41 from Canton and 23 from other Kwangtung cities, have departed for transport work in Korea.

NEW ROAD CIRCLES WU-HSI -- Shanghai, Ta Kung Pao, 3 Apr 51

Wu-hsi -- On 1 April 1951, the new macadamized road encircling the entire metropolitan area of Wu-hsi, Kiangsu, was opened with an official ceremony during which it was designated as Chieh-fang Lu. Its total length is 11 14 /One 11 equals 1 1/3 mile/ and it was constructed under the Municipal Reconstruction Authority.

The next Wu-hsi reconstruction projects are three bridges across the city moat and the Liang-ch'i River. These bridges will connect the city with a new athletic field, now under construction, which will have a capacity of 100,000.

41 CANTON DRIVERS DEPART FOR KOREA -- Hong Kong, Hsing-tao Jih-pao, 15 Sep 51

Canton, 14 September -- After a group of railway workers had left for the front, some of the truck drivers of the Canton Motor Truck Drivers Labor Union organized a volunteer group of truck drivers to serve in Korea. On 14 September 1951, 41 men under the leadership of Liu Kuan-ch'ing departed for the north. At the public farewell, they all pledged "to do their duty, to obey orders, to work zealously, not to be greedy for life, not to be afraid to die, and not to return till the US specialists are wiped out."
